Training Programmes:

It does not matter how many pencils, papers, books, curriculum, facilities or technology you place in front of a child; learning, inspiration, and transformation is not possible without the commitment of a devoted and well trained teacher.

At Dignity, we believe that the role of a teacher is not to simply transfer knowledge, but to encourage, inspire, facilitate and guide children through the process of learning. That is the reason why we take the training of teachers seriously.

In order for teachers to be equipped, they need to be trained in more than just basic curriculum areas. Training in the art of pedagogy and life-skills, with special emphasis on the needs of children affected by poverty, is an essential core to the development of well-rounded, productive teachers.

This training takes an enormous amount of effort, time and commitment from both the trainers and the trainees. However, its importance can never be understated as, the effects of a teacher, whether good or bad, last a lifetime.
